Stacks of Ore in Sight and Prospectuses to Be Had Without the Asking-Some of the Exhibitors Said That They Were

Not Stock Pedlers, but Instructors. There weren't any real mines on exhibition at the Grand Central Palace last night when the first annual mining show began a short run there to show the public, in the words of the press agent, what is right and what is wrong about mining and mining investments and to counteract the evil work of the fakers. There was the next best thing to the mines themselves, though, and that was plenty of piles of nice looking rocks, guaranteed by the men that stood ever them to represent the latest chunks of Cobalt, Goldfield, Wonder and other parts of the earth's crust which the financial gents love to talk about these days.

There were nice green looking rocks that a man in evening clothes doesn't mind telling you represent copper that the world s panting for. Then there were dull, vellowish looking rocks in small pieces with veins of a bright yellow hue in them. They were real gold bricks, not the ones used in There were also piles of dull rocks in which, guided by the man in the evening clothes, the eye might discern fine veins of A ton of these rocks to be sure eight mean only $25 worth of silver, but when that new hoist was in and that new crushing plant was going in think how many tons a day would be taken out and crushed to pay dividends.

To pay dividends.

"Here you see, ladies and gentiemen."

Ennounced the man at one of the gold stands, "a real freak of nature, the o nly thing of its kind. Pure gold was encountered in this drift, or next to pure gold, for it showed so per cent to the ton. Think of it! A sixteen-year-old boy discovered and threw one of these rocks at his hunting dor. To-day—but why go on? Have you seen one of our prospectuses?"

The prospectus generally announced that stock in the new gold mine, a small amount, could be had for $1 a share or less, the same being treasury stock, which meant that the money would be used strictly for development purposes.

their work of educating the public would be crowned with success before the show was over. Some of the exhibitors did not vant to be considered at all as stock pedlers They were just instructors.

As might be expected, being the first of ikkind, last night's show proved to be some-what crude, but the public when they lost interest in the piles of rock had ions of other things to look at.

One concern of mining brokers and promoters had a dump car filled with samples of ore and behind what looked to be the taine. The crowd squeezed into the tunnel, fellowed the drift and came to a picture of Wonder. They seemed to be expecting something more than that.

Around the piles of gold, or near gold, circulated some young women in short skirts and buckskins, described as cowgirls.

They were evidently supposed to give a Western touch to the spene. There were exceptly of the cowgirls, so the press agent girls wandered around through the

The girls wandered from a crowd and signs on the walls advised vis-tiors "to hit the trail with a cowgirl." The trail" was a miniature indoor Midway most of the evening.

There were lots of chance games represented besides the mining game. There was one game in particular which opened up briskly and was shut down later by the the game would redeem it for $1. Nobody wanted the watch. A citizen informed Capt. game. He said that he would post to see that it didn't open up again.

There was a gambling palace at one end of the hall with a lot of games going on.

Diamond only an exhibition. Diamond but it was only an exhibition. Diamond Bess and Carrie Watson were dealing farounk and running the wheel in the house and crying, "A hundred on the red!" to attract the crowd, but there was no real money needed.

BOOM: WENT THE TIN CAN. and Mondo Got Hurt Just as If It Was the Real Fourth of July.

Mondo Raggio, 7 years old, made a great find last evening. He was playing in front of his home at 2 James street when he spied a five gallon varnish can beneath a painter's scaffold. He stuck both hands in his pockets and walked past the can, giving it a kick as he passed. He discovered that the can was empty and none of the painters had Mondo hurried down the street and found his two pals, Joe Amorosia and Charlie t'assassa, both his own age, who live in the same block in James street.

"Hey, Joe," said Mondo, "sneak in de house an' git da match. See da big can? Me an' Charlie's goin' to swipe it. iDey's nothin' in it. Skiddoo for da match an' we'll have some fun." In three minutes the boys had the can

In three minutes the boys had the can around the corner. They lighted match after match, but the wind was too strong. Then off came three little blouses and, with these as a shield. Mondo bent low over the can and struck the last match. It burned is the the last match. ip and he dropped it into the hole in the empty can.

Half a minute later tenants from every tenement in the whole block poured down into James street. Every one asked every one else where the bomb had been exploded. Policeman Hay of the Oak street station came upat a run. All he found was a bunch of frightened Italians, two weeping boys of frightened Italians, two weeping boys and an unconscious boy lying on the side-walk. There were also some fragments of cloth and tin.

Burrows took Mondo to Hudson street hospital, where he was revived. surgeons spent an hour extracting small pieces of tin from his face and chest. He will recover.

Burglars Steal Oil Paintings.

The home of William H. Nostrand at Merrick road and Farmer's avenue, Springfield. L. I., was entered early yesterday morning by burglars, who forced the catch on the parlor window. Mr. Nostrand told the police that the visitors had carried off nine oil paintings worth $1,240, two clocks valued at $10 and other articles.

LAWYER PARTED FROM HIS FEE. Whitman Censures Italian Legal Ald Society for Muleting Poor Woman.

As a result of an investigation into the methods of the Italian Legal Aid Society. 280 Grand street, by Magistrate Whitman Lawyer Alexander Bloch, a representative of the society, returned $40 to Mrs. Agnes Lavalle, a poor Italian woman, in the Jefferson Market court yesterday morning. Mrs. Lavalle brought her husband, Alberto Lavalle of 357 West Twenty-fifth street, to court Thursday morning charging him with non-support. Alberto Serrafino, who said he was secretary of the Italian Legal Aid Society, acted as her counsel. Serrafino displayed such an ignorance of court procedure that Magistrate Whitman questioned him as to his fitness to appear in court. He finally admitted that he had no license to practise law. The Magistrate by further questioning found that the Lavalle woman had paid Serrafino $15 to get support from her husband, and about three weeks ago paid him $25 to recover some pictures for her. She was penniless when she came to court. Serrafino hastened to explain that he took the money for Block, who was really the lawyer of the for Bloch, who was really the lawyer of the

The Magistrate issued a summons Magistrate Whitman wasted no time when Bloch appeared yesterday. "You have taken $40," he said, "for services from this destitute woman and you have rendered her no services whatsoever. In the first place I don't think you have any right incorporate as a legal aid society, a are not a charitable society. "Well, Judge," said Bloch, "I'll give her back any part of the $40 you may name."
"Give her back the whole $40," said the Magistrate. Bloch did so.
"And as for you," said the Court, turning to Serrafino; "if I ever catch you attempting to practise law in any court that I'm aitting in I'll have you sent downtown.

STABBED TO DEATH BY ITALIAN Who Was One of a Gang of Rowdles That Started Row in Crowded Car.

Ernest Hertman, 26 years old, of 315 West Twenty-fifth street, a machinist, was stabbed to death, and Jacob Theis, 30 years old, of 418 Willis avenue, The Bronx, was dangerously wounded in a fight yesterday morning on a crowded northbound Third avenue elevated train. Antonio di Genova of 145th street and Robbins avenue was arrested charged with murder, and five other Italians are held as suspicious man stuck a knife deep into his groin. The rowdies then took to their heels.

Hertman and Theis occupied seats in the train when a crowd of Italians boarded it at 138th street. The Italians insisted upon getting seats, and threw men and women out of their places. A rough and tumble scramble followed, in which Hertman and Theis put up a strong fight upon the behalf Theis put up a strong fight upon the behalt of the peaceable passengers. At 113d street the two men alighted. They were followed by the rowdies and the fight was renewed. Before Hertman could raise his arms in defence a stiletto was plunged into his stomach. He fell with a groan. Theis went to the aid of his companion. A one armed man stuck a knife deep into his groin. The rowdies then took to their hees.

Policeman Schmuch of the Alexander avenue station caught Di Genova. The police then went in search of the one armed man and raided the house in which Di Genova lived, arresting five Italians. The six men were taken to Lebanon Hospital, to which Theis and Hertman had been removed. Hertman was dying and could not be reused. Their was in a critical condition be roused. Theis was in a critical condition but conscious. He said Di Genova was the man who had stabbed Hertman. A general alarm has been sent out for the one armed man.

4 per cent., when many other corporations pay 5 per cent. Seventy per cent. of these debentures had been taken up by old share-The intention is to put the money into rolling stock and improve that as much as possible. The Grand Trunk is now using 2.500 cars which will gradually be turned over to the Grand Trunk Pacific. The line between London and Highland Park will be double tracked at once. After that the entire line from Montreal to Chicago will be double tracked.

New Rules for Clearing House Banks. The Clearing House committee of the New York banks has prepared two amendments to the present regulations which will be taken up at the next meeting. One affects banks in Greater New York which are not members of the Clearing House but are in the habit of allowing some of their customers to draw checks on them, which are marked as also payable at one of which are marked as also payable at one of the Clearing House banks. The amend-ment provides that such checks shall not be put through the Clearing House unless certified by the bank on which they are originally drawn. The other concerns banks, members of the Clearing House, which clear for non-member banks. Such banks are required to keep a reserve of 25 per cent. National banks are of course required by Federal law to do this.

$30,000,000 More of Telephone Bonds Paid For.

The fifth instalment of the $100,000,000 American Telephone and Telegraph convertible bonds was taken and paid for by the syndicate yesterday. The instalment was 30 per cent., and there has now been taken up $70,000,000 of the bonds. The price to the syndicate is 91, so that the company realizes $27,300,000. Very likely it will use $20,000,000 in taking up that amount of 5 per cent. collateral trust notes three years ago and maturing May

The stockholders of the Coney Island and Brooklyn Railroad Company, of which John L. Heins is president, have voted to increase its capital stock from $2,000,000 to $3,500,000. Of this amount $1,000,000 is to be sold at once and $500,000 is to be held in reserve. The papers were filed in the County Clerk's office in Brooklyn vesterday.

Business Troubles.

A creditors' petition in bankruptcy has been filed against the North Side Brewing Company, at Third avenue corner of 168th street. The company is a New York corporation, with a capital stock of $500,000. It bought the plant of the American Brewing Company. George F. Gruinder was president and Chris Georges treasurer, and most of the stockholders were uptown saloon keepers. The company has been hampered by lack of capital. Judge Hough of the United States District Court appointed Edward G. Benedict receiver. The unsecured liabilities are over $100,000 and the assets other than real estate are probably $50,000. A mortgage for $80,000 held by the Emigrant Industrial Savings Bank was foreclosed several years ago and sale is now threatened. Blanche B. Neukirch, who has a mortgage of $28,000, began suit yesterday to foreclose it. The company turns out 100,000 barrels of beer yearly and creditors hope that some arrangement can be made to save the business. William H. Knox, one of the partners in Cadenas & Coe, importers and exporters, of 118 Broad street, has filed individual schedules showing liabilities $14,212, of which $13,050 is secured by realty mortgages, and assets $6,017. (Marlborough = Blenbeim Atlantic City, N. J. April

The ending of Lent this year coincides with the beginning of April, the gayest and most distinguished month in Atlantic City's famous spring season. During this month more eminent visitors and "nice people" are to be found in the great hotels than in any other month of the year, and the absence of the Easter Sunday "interraption" enables guests to completely enjoy all the attractions of climate and artificial entertainment of this festive season with entire satisfaction.

The hotel claims distinction for its location, its ample public space devoted to its guests, its high-class music every night throughout the year, but particularly attractive with solo singers at the week-ends during the spring season, and its ownership management.

All the four dining rooms (two American plan, with the excellent cooking heretofore so popular, and two Ala Carte, with separate kitchens and French cooks) have white service throughout and in one of the American rooms called the "American forms cal
